The Bowling Green Area Chamber of Commerce is where business and community leaders meet to shape a better tomorrow. The Chamber is the leading economic development force for the South Central Kentucky region.

Regional Growth

The Bowling Green Area Chamber of Commerce is dedicated to promoting the entire South Central Kentucky region. The Chamber has initiated a regional economic development marketing plan to aid in the attraction of business and industry to the area. A South Central Kentucky brand and a South Central Kentucky economic development website were created. The Chamber continually collaborates with state and local officials in neighboring counties as part of our ongoing efforts to facilitate economic development growth.

Location

Located along the I-65 corridor, South Central Kentucky is the crossroads of easy living and golden opportunity. Within a day's travel of 60 percent of the nation's population, our region provides access to major markets such as Louisville, Nashville, Memphis and Indianapolis. Our location opens the door to a highly lucrative business environment.

Workforce

Opportunities to build a powerful workforce abound in this region, with three higher-level educational institutions in Bowling Green alone. We're training employees and leaders for the future while retaining an outstanding workforce for today. South Central Kentucky boasts a labor pool of more than 25,000 workers, and we anticipate that pool to reach 150,000 in the near future. In addition, Bowling Green is ranked as the second most educated workforce of any city in Kentucky.

Quality of Life

South Central Kentucky offers an unparalleled quality of life. We're proud of our high-tech healthcare facilities and our high quality school systems, but those aren't the only reasons to call our region home. Residents enjoy fine dining, performing arts, natural wonders, historic landmarks, dynamic festivals and state-of-the-art facilities.

Transpark

South Central Kentucky is primed for continued economic growth with its new high-tech commerce and business park, the Kentucky Transpark, which can accommodate heavy and light industrial manufacturing operations and also offers planned unit development sites for commercial and retail establishments. It features educational and research centers, environmentally friendly buildings and a campus-like setting designed especially to meet the needs of Kentucky Transpark partners. Just on the north side of Bowling Green in Warren County, the Kentucky Transpark is a central location for growing business.

The President's Club was formed in an effort to recognize Chamber partners who generously contribute to the economic development efforts of the Bowling Green Area Chamber of Commerce. Today we have more than 50 President's Club partners. The Chamber has taken advantage of its resources to provide the President's Club partners with notable recognition and honor for their support. We take great care in creating benefits that gain high exposure for our President's Club partners and are low in cost to the Chamber, making sure dollars invested in the Chamber are going toward economic development. Contact the Partnership Development Director for benefit details.

The Bowling Green Area Chamber of Commerce knows that South Central Kentucky is "Central for Business. Southern for Living." We're proud of the developments we've seen so far in our economy, and we know that more are to come. Along with our valued economic development partners, we work hard to promote the benefits of business in our region.
